Written By: Adalyn Woodruff

Have you ever had a bad day before? "Wake up madison your late" mom yelled. Madison got dressed. She could smell the wet grass as she went to the kitchen. "Oh no there's no food left" thought Madison. She brushed her teeth and noticed her mom left.

She then had to walk to school. Madison grabbed her bag and left. After a 15 minute walk she arrived at school. Anna, her best friend, asked her if she studied for the test. Madison, shocked, said no silently. She took the test and got 50%. She failed!

After a few hours it was finally lunch time. The girl walks to the lunch room and buys her lunch. While walking to the table she trips and falls in front of everyone. No one noticed but Madison started crying and ran to the bathroom.

Anna sees her in the bathroom and tries to comfort her. The two girls walk back to lunch and eat their food. After they ate their food they went outside. Anna and Madison decided to play dodgeball. "Ow that hurt" yelled madison. The girl had got hit with the ball in the face. Anna asked her if she was okay. Madison took her hand off her face. Anna gasped.

Madison had a black eye. Anna asked a teacher to go to the nurse and the teacher asked why Anna explained what happened. The teacher let them go to the nurse. When they got in the nurse's office she asked what happened in a shocked voice. After Anna explained to the nurse what happened she gave her an ice pack and sent them to class. A few hours seemed to feel like days but finally it was the end of the day. Everyone started to pack up but Madison's teacher asked to talk to her.

The teacher asked her how she failed her test. Madison's reply was "I forgot to study for the test". The teacher told her she could retake it tomorrow. Madison packed up and rode the bus home. She did her homework, had dinner and went to bed. The next day she woke up and had an amazing day!
