

Title: triplets with the chicken nuggets
Written By: Alyssa Wiles

My name is Sammy or Sam for short. I'm the oldest my sister Cristel is the middle child, last my brother is the youngest, his name is Joe. Now to the story. Once upon a time one morning on a Tuesday. We were flying on chicken nuggets. We were proud we were flying the chicken nuggets.

We were going to the grocery store for our mom and dad when we got lost. We landed in the forest. And we lost the chicken nuggets, because we were looking for a way out of the forest. We found a way out, so we were turning around when the chicken nuggets were missing.

Joe looked for clues, Cristel looked for the chicken nuggets, I sniffed for the smell of the chicken nuggets. The chicken nuggets were scared by a creepy tree. The chicken nuggets saw and ran right to us. Then the chicken nuggets took us home, and the chicken nuggets took a bath in ketchup. Then I of course ate the chicken nuggets, and my brother and sister yelled at me.

Then we walked to the store and got new chicken nuggets and flew them home. We saw an old lady that was trying to cross the street and almost got hit, so we went to go help her. After we helped her then we flew home. When we got home we played monopoly, jigga, rummy and life. Then we ate dinner, we played video games, and finally we went to sleep.

The End
