

Mystery Disney
Written By: Andie Atkinson

It all started one october night in florida... The Alacto family had been waiting for this day but will soon regret it.

“Jessica! Pancakes are ready!” her mom yelled.

“Coming!” Jessica ran down the steps as she heard her parents talking about something, almost like a vacation! Jessica ate up her pancakes as her parents were still talking.

“Oh, she’s here.” her Dad mumbled while smiling. Jessica looked out at the dock and saw a cruise ship!

“All aboard for the disney cruise!” The Alacto family packed their bags and ran up to the boat.

“Hello. Here is my ID for Suzie Alacto.”

“Why hello there, hop up on the disney cruise!”

The Alacto family hopped up on the cruise ship and went straight to their room to get unpacked.

“Woah. Cookies! Expired by January 2, 2020?” mumbled Jessica while eating the cookie.

“Bleck! They’re expired!” Jessica spit out the cookie and headed upstairs for dinner. Once Jessica got to dinner her parents realized that Jessica didn’t look so well. “Jess, are you ok? You don’t seem well.” her mom said.

“Oh she’s fine. Just a little pale, nothing much!” Dad replied.

“Could we go to the nurse?” Jessica asked. The Alacto family headed into the nurse’s office. Turns out she was more than ill.

*News* “Attention zombie apocalypse! There is a new illness on the disney ride cruise!” The Alacto family screamed in terror.

“We need to find Mary for help!” They ran around the boat. Upstairs, Downstairs, then they found Mary.

"We need help stopping this zombie apocalypse!" Mary looked very confused.

"I have an idea! It might seem dangerous but just trust me on this. Ok?" Mary pulled off shore and jumped off the cruise. The Alacto family and Mary ran into Disneyland. They looked and looked until they found the magical princess.

"Help! Help! Zombie apocalypse chasing us!" The magical princess rushed and looked around until a light bulb went off. "Follow me to the loudspeaker! If I say the national emergency poem then one by one the zombies will turn back into humans! They ran into the loudspeaker room and the princess said the national emergency poem.

"Oh glorious."

"Oh glorious."

"How I love humans..."

"The animal that we were"

"Earlier today"

The zombies one by one turned back into humans. The princess got the cruise back on the ocean and delayed the trip. After this excitement they walked along the beach and watched the sunset.