

Title: The Bear Cub
Written By: David King

One day George was camping and something happened.

When George woke up one day when he was camping, he went down by the pond. Then he started to fish. Every time he caught a fish he threw it into his cooler. After a few hours a bear cub came and stole his fish that he was going to eat for dinner!

George yelled for his friends Bob and Jeff. They started chasing the bear into the woods. Then they all finally gave up. When they got back to camp they tried to think of some ways to catch the bear.

"Even if we do find the cub wouldn't the mother bear be there?", asked Bob.

"I didn't think about that," said Jeff. Then they climbed a tree and sat there with a fishing pole. Jeff put a fish on the end of the fishing pole and lured it down. Sure enough the bear came right past and tried to eat the fish. Then George and his friends jumped down and tackled the bear. Just as Bob thought the mother bear came to protect the cub and George, Jeff, and Bob ran back to camp. When Jeff was lying in his sleeping bag and thought of a plan. He was going to dig a hole so the mother bear couldn't stop them. Then Bob would grab the cub and he was going to get the fish back. When they woke up they got straight to it they dug the hole. Then the mother bear fell in, Bob grabbed the cub, and Jeff got the fish back. They let the mother bear and cub go and went back to camp. They cooked the fish and ate it. Then they went home.

The End!!!
