

Title: The Tosue's family vacation

Written By: Hunter Trinidad

The Tosue family planned to go on a vacation little did they know that this was going to be the worst vacation ever.

They wanted to go on a cruise. Jake and Bob are the twins, they love playing video games. So they brought Nintendo switch's with them. On April 31 they got on the boat and set out to sea.

The boat left and sailed all night and all day. It was a long ride. It was now May 2 11:59 pm. The twins were up playing video games. At exactly 12:00 am the light shut off and the boat stopped running. There was a storm. The waves were very high.

They were so high that the boat was rocking back and forth. The twins were very scared. They went to the captain and asked what was wrong. The captain explained that there was water in the engine. His men were fixing it right then.

It took them a couple hours, but they got it fixed. Once it was fixed the boat drove back to the dock and everyone made it home safely. They never went on a cruise again. At least they didn't want to ever again.

THE END!
