

Platypus's First Day at School
Written By: Zach Yeager

Ding! Platypus rushes for the door. He barely made it in time for class at Two Toe school. He now sits next to beaver and duck.

"Hello class." Professor Goldie says gloomily.

"Hello professor ." Replied, the class. Goldie starts teaching about the dangers of Two Toe island. When suddenly it gets dark outside.

"Scuba divers!" shouts Octopus. The scuba divers put everyone in cages.

"We're never getting out now!"shouted Beaver.

"We're gonna die in these cages!" Yelled Angelfish.

"I have an idea. Said Duck. She started quacking nonstop, but the scuba divers put in earplugs.

" I have a better idea." said Beaver. He started banging his tail trying to break the cage, but he couldn't break the cage. While Beaver was trying to break the cage Platypus used venom on one of the scuba divers. The scuba divers surrendered because they didn't want to also get paralyzed by the venom. The scuba divers let everyone out of the cages, and released the students into the wild with the teacher.

Platypus got a week's vacation because he saved the class, and made great friends with Duck and Beaver.